

This Account Has Exceeded Its CPU Quota

Please contact this site's webmaster.

Wait a few minutes and use your browser's "Back" button or click here to try again.

---

If you are the webmaster, your account may have gotten this error for one or more of the following reasons:

- Your account has used more than its share of the cpu in the past 60 second sliding window.
- Your account has too many concurrent processes running simultaneously.
- Your account has consumed too much memory.
- Your site was recently very busy trying to run inefficient scripts.

The solution would be to optimize your applications to use less CPU.

Adding appropriate indexes to your SQL tables can often help reduce CPU.

Using static .html documents instead of painful .php scripts will practically eliminate CPU usage.